workman's ideal aim should be higher than what he can actually accomplish the work has incurred a certain risk from having been once or twice suspended for a considerable period but i have always returned to it with increased interest and pleasure nor can i charge myself with having wittingly bestowed less pains on one part than another i have endeavoured to make it a trustworthy narrative by drawing from the most original sources to which i could gain access and where as in those portions which touch on secular history the lead of general historians such as gibbon or de broglie has been followed i have as far as possible consulted the authorities to which they refer to modern authors from whom i have derived valuable assistance for special parts of the work such as m amédée thierry and dr foerster my obligations are acknowledged in their proper place aeterna press the manifestly imperfect condition in which these homilies have come to us may partly be accounted for by the circumstances of the times in which they were preached it was in the easter weeks of the third year of his residence at constantinople as archbishop that st chrysostom began this course of sermons and during all the remaining part of that year a d 400 the capital of the east was kept in constant trouble and alarm by the revolt of gainas and the goths moreover scarcely had the preaching commenced when the complaints from the churches of asia minor were brought may 400 before the metropolitan see which business during many months painfully occupied the archbishop's thoughts and eventually demanded his presence at ephesus this volume completes the series of s chrysostom's homilies on the new testament translated a quarter of a century ago by the rev t keble vicar of bisley and revised with great labour in the use of the then existing editions by his brother the vicar of hursley it was thought best to delay the publication until dr field had completed the long delayed publication of the greek text this appeared in 1862 aeterna press the homilies of st chrysostom on st matthew were undoubtedly delivered at antioch see hom vii p 105 and probably in the latter part of the time during which he preached as a presbyter montfaucon considers his little mention of the sin of swearing a sign of his having accomplished some reformation on that point by his previous exertions in the homilies delivered from 386 to 388 it is a constant topic and the homilies known to belong to that date are so numerous as scarcely to leave room for such a series as the present these however contain very little to mark the period to which they belong the argument from his reference to dissensions some time gone by possibly those between st meletius and paulinus and evagrius in commenting on st matt 23 6 is not very conclusive aeterna press while st john chrysostom may have commented on all 150 psalms in the psalter commentary has survived on only fifty eight in these volumes robert charles hill has prepared an excellent translation of the commentary in volume one psalms 4 13 44 50 and in volume two psalms 109 150 with the exception of the long ps 119 all appearing for the first time in english in this work probably composed while he was still in antioch chrysostom s brilliance as an exegete of the literal school of antioch shines forth even as he works with the metaphorical language and imagery of the psalms as hill writes it is fascinating to watch chrysostom coming to grips with this lyrical material achieving some sense of comfort and eventually devising for the first time his own hermeneutical principles for coping with such texts the extensive introduction in volume one covers basic issues on the commentary including its origins its relationship to chrysostom s other exegetical work his attitude to scripture and the theology spirituality and other moral accents of the commentary comment on chrysostom s text is also given in endnotes and indexes are provided in each volume c from publisher s description time in the constitution of pope vigilius in the year 553 he is generally considered the most prominent doctor of the greek church and the greatest preacher ever heard in a christian pulpit his natural gifts as well as exterior circumstances helped him to become what he was the success of chrysostom s preaching is chiefly due to his great natural facility of speech which was extraordinary even to greeks to the abundance of his thoughts as well as the popular way of presenting and illustrating them and last but not least the whole hearted earnestness and conviction with which he delivered the message which he felt had been given to him speculative explanation did not attract his mind nor would they have suited the tastes of his hearers he ordinarily preferred moral subjects and very seldom in his sermons followed a regular plan nor did he care to avoid digressions when any opportunity suggested them
