in the timeless kingdom of mapungubwe the royal sculptor had two sons chata and rendani as they grew so grew their rivalry and their extraordinary talents but while rendani became a master carver of the animals that run in the wild hills and lush valleys of the land chata learned to carve fantastic beings from his dreams creatures never before seen on the earth from this natural rivalry between brothers zakes mda crafts an irresistibly rich fable of love and family what makes the better art perfect mimicry or inspiration who makes the better wife a princess or a mysterious dancer ageless and contemporary deceptive in its simplicity and mythical in its scope the sculptors of mapungubwe encompasses all we know of love envy and the artist's primal power to forge art from nature and nature into art mda's newest novel will only strengthen his international reputation as one of the most trenchant voices of south africa archives of times past explores particular sources of evidence on southern africa's time before the colonial era it gathers recent ideas about archives and archiving from scholars in southern africa and elsewhere focusing on the question how do we know or think we know what happened in the times before european colonialism The essays by well known historians archaeologists and researchers engage these questions from a range of perspectives and in illuminating ways written from personal experience they capture how these experts encountered their archives of knowledge beyond the textbook 0the essays are written at a time when public discussion about the history of southern africa before the colonial era is taking place more openly than at any other time in the last hundred years they will appeal to students academics educationists teachers archivists and heritage museum practitioners and the general public sol plaatje s mhudi is the first full length novel in english to have been written by a black south african and is widely regarded as one of south africa s most important literary works set in the 1830s it tells the tale of mhudi and ra thaga a romantic story set against a violent backdrop of war between barolong and matebele complicated by the intrusions of boer trekkers with whom the barolong form an alliance it is notable among other things for the way plaatje uses the past to explore the roots of the oppression and injustice suffered by his people a century later when the book was written page 4 of cover in 1997 m e r mathivha an elder of the black jewish lemba people of south africa announced to the lemba cultural association that a recent dna study substantiated their ancestral connections to jews lemba people subsequently leveraged their genetic test results to seek recognition from the post apartheid government as indigenous africans with rights to traditional leadership and land retheorizing genetic ancestry in the process in genetic afterlives noah tamarkin illustrates how lemba people give their own meanings to the results of dna tests and employ them to manage competing claims of jewish ethnic and religious identity african indigeneity and south african citizenship tamarkin turns away from genetics researchers results that defined a single story of lemba peoples true origins and toward lemba understandings of their own genealogy as multivalent guided by lemba people s negotiations of their belonging as diasporic jews south african citizens and indigenous africans tamarkin considers new ways to think about belonging that can acknowledge the importance of historical and sacred ties to land without valorizing autochthony borders or other technologies of exclusion
